

Albert Einstein Middle School Shoreline, Washington

In March of 2006, Mary Jo See visited Albert Einstein Middle School in Shoreline, Washington and spoke with students about art and science, the creative process and how geniuses develop great ideas.

Following the discussion, students were invited to explore personal goals through Cubism. Using magazine clippings and drawings, students selected visual images that represent their goals, then placed images to show how goals would be achieved in space, through time.

